DETAILED ACTION

1. Acknowledgment is made in the receipt of the amendment filed September 27, 2004.

Drawings

2. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the subject matter of claims 5, 9, 10 and 11 must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1, 4-13, 16-18 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by US 6,746,182 to Munk et al.

Re-claims 1, 7 and 28, Munk et al. discloses a spring adapted for rotational action, comprising: a first member 120 is fixed to a body member 116, the first member has an open center area that permits a driving member 14 to extend freely therethrough, the first member is a lower ring member that encircles the driving member; a second member 122 is spaced apart from the first member and is adapted to receive the driving member, the driving member can move through a selected range of back and forth movement (see column 1 lines 60-63) with the second member, the second member is an upper disc having a central opening for receiving the driving member, the driving member is tightly fitted to the second member (specifically through element 114, which is an extension of the driving member); at least two leg members 126 connect the first and second members, leg members are flexible and elastically deformable (see column 5 lines 21-28) and are capable of storing energy which tends to return the spring toward its original position.

Re-claims 4, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13, see figure 6.

Re-claim 5, the spring allows angular movement of the second member relative to the first member, during which the first and second members are non-parallel.

Re-claims 16-18, see figure 6.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

7. Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Munk et al.

Munk et al. fails to teach the leg members and first member as being elliptical in cross section. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art as a matter of design choice to have formed the first member and leg members of Munk et al. as elliptical in cross section, since the applicant has not disclosed that having elliptical cross sections for the first member and the leg members solves any stated problem or is for any particular purpose and it appears that having the spring member of Munk et al. with the first member and leg members formed with elliptical cross sections would have performed equally well as having circular cross sections.

Art Unit: 3683

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 22-25 are allowed.

9. Claims 15 and 19-21 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

10. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-21 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

11. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Hickman and Pflimlin teach a torsion spring positioned between two ring members.
